

Chest G. P. O'Neill Memorial Dinner Scheduled Tonight

Mrs. O'Neill,
Penn-Stroud,
Host For Drive

TONIGHT AT 6:15 Community Chest workers will attend a memorial dinner honoring the late Gerald P. O'Neill.

O'Neill, the late owner of the Penn Stroud Hotel, was a civic leader who took strong and special pride in his work with and in behalf of the Community Chest.

Tonight's dinner is being given by the hotel and O'Neill's widow, Mrs. Regina O'Neill, as a display of continued active support of the Chest. An estimated 250 workers and captains will attend the dinner.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Peter K. Emmons, for many years an active church leader in the Stroudsburg and Monroe County. Dr. Emmons is now serving a pastorate in Scranton.

No charge is made for the dinner to either the Chest or workers. This practice was inaugurated by O'Neill himself. It was begun to fill a specific need in the campaign in the past: to provide Chest officials with a central meeting place and a prime opportunity to explain the purposes and goals of the Chest campaign to individual workers.

Praise From The President

Community Chest president Elton P. Hall; campaign coordinator Clifford Gillam and other leaders in the Chest expressed deep appreciation to the hotel and to Mrs. O'Neill for giving the dinner again this year. It is being given as part of the hotel's contribution to the Chest drive.

"Certainly nothing could be more appropriate for a tough campaign such as this, most, if necessary, than to honor a man whose work in the community is familiar to all Chest workers who have helped in the past," Hall said.

"Gerry O'Neill's contributions to the Community Chest were many and each was highly valuable to the success of individual campaigns in the past and to the morale of the workers in each drive the Chest has undertaken.

"Tonight's meeting is, in a very real sense, the most important single meeting Chest workers will hold this year. It marks the first time that all of us will have a chance to sit down and consider the prospect before us for a successful campaign. The dinner is intended to be a sounding board for ideas from all persons in all divisions. It is an exchange of theories and of philosophies—each of which can contribute greatly to the successful completion of the drive."

"This year we have set a goal which is larger than any other ever undertaken by the Community Chest. We did not choose to do this. The obligation and the responsibility were thrust upon us by a force far outside our personal or collective powers."

Emergency Fund

"A special $20,000 emergency fund has been set up. It is intended to take care of the added extra work which will have to be done by Chest agencies in the months to come."

"We do not cure the scars and the effects of a disaster simply by clearing away the debris of a flood. These scars remain for many months—some for years—stamped on the lives of the people who lived through the disaster."

"Because there are homeless families, the need for youth programs in the community becomes greater. Because there are economic setbacks in some elements of the community, the need for family services skyrockets."

"There will be nothing new in the job they will face. But there will be more work to be done than ever before."

"This means, essentially, that the job we—the persons who act as spokesmen of the Chest—must do is also a greater one. Whether we bear a title or are the workers who must make the door-to-door, day-by-day calls, the job is there for us to do for ourselves and for every other family in the whole community."

Reports From Three

An important part of tonight's meeting will be reports from captains of three major divisions which have been functioning in fund-raising the past month.

These divisions are: special gifts with William Nixon as head; "Early Bird" with Chester S. Miller, captain and the industrial-labor group headed by Emerson Stanton and Walter S. Peeney.

The Chest has set a goal of $88,579 for the current campaign. At the last report meeting held by workers, it was announced that $31,908 had been raised so far. The figure represented 36 per cent of the total goal.

Beginning tomorrow morning (Tuesday), the fourth division will start on its phase of the campaign. This is the "county" or "residential" division headed by Mrs. Claude Leister and Walter Wyckoff.

The emphasis during this latter part of the drive will be on two things: contacting every single homeowner in the Monroe County area and accomplishing this at the greatest possible speed.

Saarlanders Reject Europeanization By Two To One

The Late G. P. O'Neill

Dr. P. K. Emmons

Pro-French Premier Quits Post

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar, Monday, Oct. 24 (P)—The German speaking Saarlanders rejected Europeanization of their rich border state by a 2-1 vote Sunday and their pro-French Premier, Johann Hoffmann, quickly resigned.

The Saar's "No" to the Europeanization statute marked its opening drive to throw off France's economic grip and unite with West Germany. Hoffmann, 64, in power since 1947, had urged approval of the statute, which would have put the Saar under a neutral commissioner of the seven-nation Western European Union and maintained its customs and currency union with France.

Final Returns

Final returns showed 96.72 per cent of the 662,600-odd voters turned out and 67.7 per cent of them were against it. The count: YES—201,973

NO—423,434

Pro-German forces showed under the statute with a fiery back-to-Germany campaign. In the hours before Hoffmann stepped out, they demanded new elections to oust his government. They accused him in the campaign of being a traitor for serving under the French occupation of the Saar and for calling on Saarlanders to approve Europeanization.

Jubilation

There was jubilation among many in Germany. But in Paris, French officials weren't talking. The rejection was a new blow to the shaky government of Premier Edgar Faure.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, bedridden with pneumonia, had no comment on the results. But the chief of the opposition Socialist party, Erich Ollenhauer, demanded the resignation of Hoffmann's Cabinet and immediate free elections for a new Saar Parliament. Other leaders called for new negotiations with France on the Saar's future.

But the chief of the opposition Socialist party, Erich Ollenhauer, demanded the resignation of Hoffmann's Cabinet and immediate free elections for a new Saar Parliament. Other leaders called for new negotiations with France on the Saar's future.

Three pro-German parties and the Communists fought the statute, while two parties led by Premier Hoffmann supported it. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had urged approval of the Europeanization plan, which he worked out with the French.

Bitter Campaign

Despite the bitter campaign, in which 41 persons were injured in rioting in August and September, the plebiscite went off today without disorder.

The sale of alcohol was forbidden, but bars tonight were crowded with happy Saarlanders celebrating a "victory for Germany."

Two Autos Damaged

DAMAGE estimated at $900 was caused late Saturday afternoon when two passenger cars were in collision on Route 611 in Tannersville.

State Police identified the drivers involved as Roger E. Madison, 30, Tullyhanna, and Joseph Papson, 39, Dickson City. Neither motorist was injured.

Troopers said Madison was traveling north and was attempting to pass another car, when it suddenly swerved to the left, causing him to move into the path of Papson's oncoming southbound auto.

Foreign Aid Shows Drop Of 780 Millions In Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (P)—The Commerce Department said today that United States net foreign aid during the 12 months which ended last June 30 totaled 4.5 billion dollars. This was 780 millions less than in the previous fiscal year.

The department attributed the decrease to a 28 per cent drop in military foreign aid.

Other types of aid grants increased by 23 per cent during the 12 months, reversing a five-year downward trend in the cost of non-military foreign aid. These other types of foreign aid, including relief shipments, developmental help and technical assistance, plus cash payments for the support of troops in Indochina, totaled $1,900,000,000 in fiscal 1955. The cash payments for the support of troops in Indochina was classified as nonmilitary help because it was considered financial assistance to France and the three Indochinese states, replacing sums spent by them on their troops.

Cash Payments

Cash payments of this type to France during the fiscal year which ended last June 30 totaled more than $600 million dollars.

The decline in military aid deliveries of goods and services applied mostly to Western European countries, the report said. Since 1953 shipments of military aid have fallen off by approximately 50 per cent.

The report said that last year United States credit collections exceeded new loans by 17 million dollars. At the end of June 1955, long-term foreign debts to the United States government, exclusive of World War I debts, stood at approximately 11.5 billion dollars.

During the 12 months which ended last June 30, the United States government collected 282 million dollars interest on these loans.

Accuse Adlai
Of Flip-Flop
On Farm Price

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (P)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall today accused Adlai Stevenson of bowing to pressure from Democratic leaders and executing a complete "flip-flop" on farm policies.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee "has shown himself to be a slender reed in a political windstorm," Hall said.

Queen Cautions Margaret On Marriage To Townsend; Britons Showing Impatience

LONDON, Oct. 23 (P)—Princess Margaret spent a quiet Sunday with her sister, the Queen, as newspaper clamor mounted for her romance with the prince.

Beginning tomorrow morning (Tuesday), the fourth division will start on its phase of the campaign. This is the "county" or "residential" division headed by Mrs. Claude Leister and Walter Wyckoff.

The emphasis during this latter part of the drive will be on two things: contacting every single homeowner in the Monroe County area and accomplishing this at the greatest possible speed.

Townsend Alone

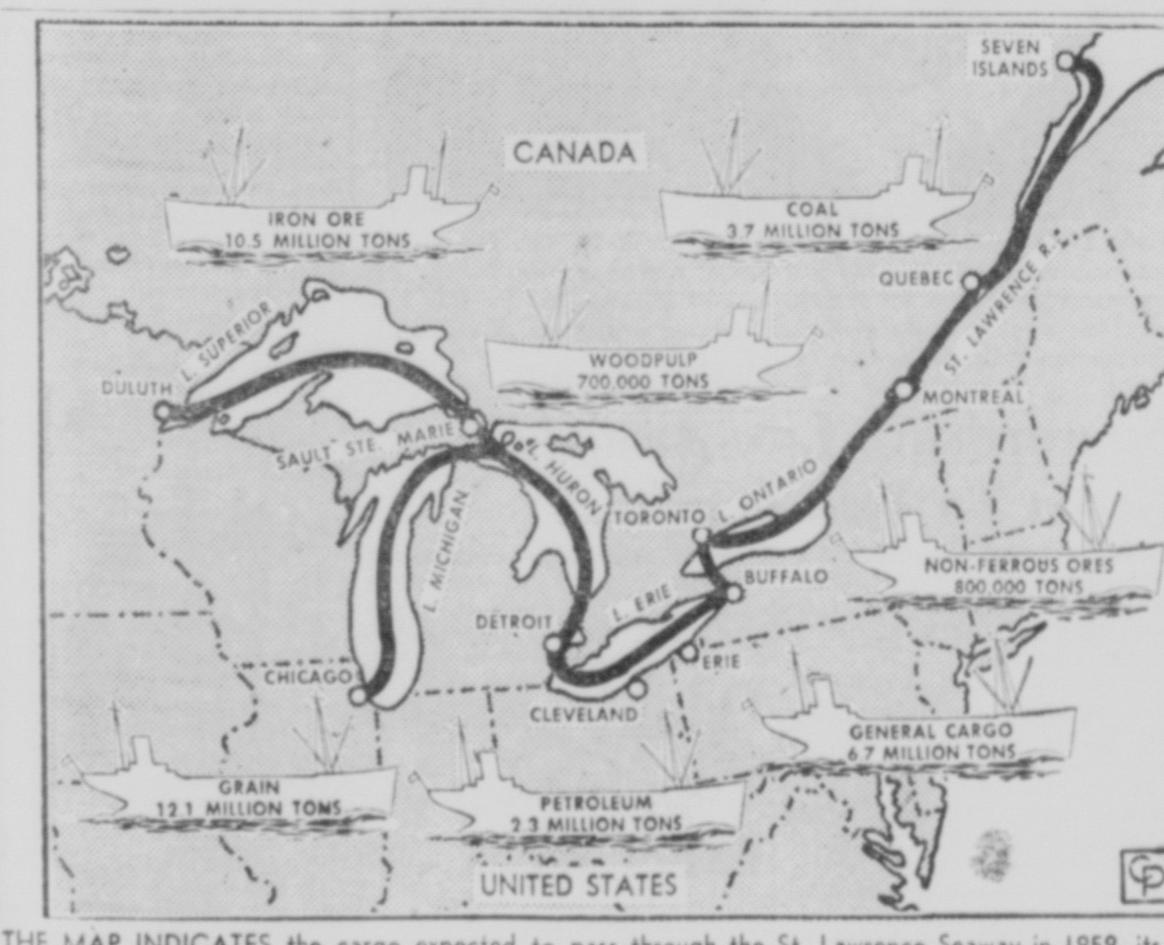

Townsend stayed alone in London over the weekend after seeing

Margaret off last night on her 30-mile journey to Windsor. It was the first time the two have been parted by so many miles since they got together again 11 days ago after a long separation.

Parliament returns Tuesday afternoon with the summer recess and some members have served notice they will press for clarification of the government's attitude. Any discussion of the royal family can be ruled out of order in the House of Commons, but the issue can be raised through suggested amendments to the Royal Marriage Act of 172—passed four years before the American Revolution. Under this act, Margaret, now 25, could not marry before her 25th birthday without the Queen's consent and even now must give Parliament a year's notice of any intention to wed.

Relentless Search On For Slayers

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (P)—City and county authorities kept up an unrelenting search today for a break in the week-old kidnap-strangling of three young boys.

While 200 traffic policemen gave up their day off to comb a forest preserve, where the three beaten and maimed nude bodies were found last Tuesday, a coordinating team of 35 crack detectives was lined up to take over the investigation tomorrow.

And in precinct stations and at downtown headquarters, Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor said, "lead after lead, suspect after suspect" underwent intensive examination for clues to the brutal beating and strangling of 14-year-old Robert Peterson; his friend, Joan Schluesser, 13, and John's brother, 11-year-old Anton Jr.

Given Tests

Today four young men and an 18-year-old girl, described as sex deviates, were asked to take lie detector tests. Three were cleared, one test was called inconclusive and the girl refused to take the test.

They were picked up on the story of a 20-year-old youth who said he had forcibly taken independent liberties with him a year ago in the wood where the boys' bodies were found.

And a 23-year-old man who tried to pick up a juvenile Saturday night was questioned.

Blue jeans, which searchers found in the Northwest Side area where the victims vanished last Sunday night, turned out to be too large for them. The boys wore jeans and jackets when they left home to go to a movie. Their clothing has not been found.

More than 1,000 possible clues have been sifted and rejected. More than 40 persons have been questioned, a score under the lie detector.

First Snow

The first snowfall of the season kept the President indoors today. But the 100th medical bulletin from his doctor said he was in a "good mood" and showing satisfactory progress.

The 101st bulletin, at 11:30 a.m. today, took a similar tone and added this information:

"During the morning, the President sat on the side of his bed and the girl who was with him was lifted into his chair periodically.

"He was weighed this morning and his weight showed that he had lost four pounds during his month of hospitalization."

Hagerty also disclosed that the President will get in his first work this week on his State of the Union message that goes to Congress early in January. Into the message are incorporated programs recommended by various government departments.

Flying out to discuss the message with the President Thursday are Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to the President in charge of legislative liaison and Kevin McCann, and assistant to Eisenhower.

Speaker On Geneva

Hagerty said that, as forecast by Dulles, the President will have of the opening of the Big Four foreign ministers session in Geneva next Thursday.

Molotov Done?</

Molotov Leaves World Up In The Air

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

V. M. MOLOTOV'S tantalizing remark to an Associated Press correspondent the other night opens up a broad new field of speculation on the very eve of the all-important conference of the four-power foreign ministers at Geneva.

Molotov Smiles

Molotov was asked whether his involved and obscure confession of an error in ideology recently meant he was going to resign. He replied he would "give the answer to that question in Geneva and from Geneva." That was all the Soviet foreign minister, wearing an uncustomed affable smile, had to say.

But, coming from any man in the Kremlin, such a statement was a mouthful. It left the rest of the world on tenterhooks.

This question must now be uppermost in the minds of the men who must meet Molotov face to face this week: is the Soviet foreign minister coming to Geneva a discredited man? If this is so, it is entirely possible that the way already is prepared for the Soviet Union to backtrack from any agreement, expressed or implied, that might be reached at that all important "acid test" conference.

Now A Pawn

Molotov appears to stand in the position now of a pawn on a chessboard, to be sacrificed if the sacrifice is necessary to further the long-term strategy, or to be saved if the developing game permits it. That is, if it should be necessary in the future, it is quite conceivable that the Soviet Union could repudiate anything Molotov said or did at Geneva. If that should not turn out to be necessary from the Kremlin's tactical standpoint, then Molotov could be allowed to continue in his limbo for a long time to come. Either way you look at it, this would appear to be a dandy little arrangement for the Soviet Union.

In any event, the fact that Molotov arrives in Geneva a man in the shadows, his future questionable, can hardly lead to any maturing of a feeling of mutual confidence for which the Kremlin has been so passionately appealing these past six months.

Confuse West

One way or the other, it seems obvious enough that the Kremlin is attempting to confuse the West on this issue, among others.

Stewardship Life Awards Given To Two Teachers

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (P)—Miss Lila Lee Smith, 23, an English and mathematics teacher at the Spring Grove, Pa., Joint District High School, and Harold Brownlee Henry, Danboro, Pa., are each to receive $500 as winners of the 1955 Everett C. Mitchell "Stewardship of Life" awards.

The annual awards go to the outstanding young men and women of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Henry, a lumber supply office worker, was a victim of infantile paralysis in 1941. The Rev. Richard L. Peterman, Henry's pastor, said Henry "cheerfully and effectively lives the Christian faith from a wheelchair and crutches."

Miss Smith was described as exerting "wide Christian influence through her quiet competence as a teacher and leader and as a faithful Christian steward and tithe taker."

Everett C. Mitchell, a Chicago radio and television commentator and vice president of the Lutheran Laymen's movement, provides the money.

Ask Halt To Plant Closing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (P)—The House Appropriations Committee asked that the Defense Department hold off on plans to shut down 14 government-operated industrial and commercial facilities.

It acted under a "rider" to an appropriations bill which President Eisenhower denounced last July as unconstitutional. In view of the President's attitude, there is a question whether the Defense Department will comply.

Limited Approval Given To Radar Speed Check In State By Bedford County's Court

BEDFORD, Pa., Oct. 23 (P)—Use of a radar speed check on Pennsylvania highways won limited approval in the first test of its legality.

Judge Richard C. Snyder of Bedford County Court ruled yesterday radar evidence is "highly competent and admissible" in cases where the charge is driving too fast for conditions.

He declared it is not admissible when the charge is simply exceeding the maximum speed limit. In such cases, he declared, the law states specifically a driver's speed must be determined by stopwatch over a measured stretch of road, or by officers following the driver in a patrol car.

Accuracy Impresses
Judge Snyder made a study of the actual operation of state police radar checks and said he was "very favorably impressed by its obvious accuracy in determining speeds."

The ruling resulted from an appeal by Kenneth L. Demarest, of Route 4, Bedford, asking the court to lift the suspension of his license.

Demarest was arrested in Hopewell Twp., Cumberland County, in Sept., 1954, and charged with driving too fast for conditions.

Judge Snyder restored Demarest's license because, he said, the Commonwealth had failed to prove its case. But, in his opinion, the jurist stressed that evidence obtained by radar is "more valuable in the search for truth than the testimony of witnesses based on the power of observation and personal experience."

Ike May Speak On Reassurance
CHARLESTON, Ind., Oct. 23 (P)—Dr. J. E. Schmidt, Latvian immigrant who became a physician and newspaper columnist, said he had been told President Eisenhower has accepted his suggestion to record a "speech of reassurance" for broadcast to the American people.

The doctor, who came to this little southeastern Indiana community from Baltimore as physician for a Du Pont gunpowder plant, said he sent the suggestion to the President last week and received the telephone call approving his idea Wednesday.

The driver slammed to a stop and spun in his seat to see what was going on. Then he waited patiently until the fully clothed woman finally managed to get her bundle of laundry through the rear door and off the bus.

The woman apparently made it home safely. But in Washington, D.C., she stumbled accidentally into the path of an automobile. He emerged unharmed but the car that had hit him and thrown him over the hood into the windshield suffered a crumpled fender, knocked out headlight and smashed windshield.

Man Over Machine
Another triumph of man over machine occurred in Memphis, Tenn. A construction elevator plunged nine stories when the cable snapped, but the occupant, who was taking a wheelbarrow of fresh cement to the top, flopped on soft cement and had a cushioned ride down.

A certain St. Louis woman is a little disgruntled. She found her name on a published list of "lost persons" due income tax returns. Taking time off from work—and thereby losing $2 in wages—she visited the Internal Revenue office. There she collected a refund of 19 cents.

County Wide CD Police Conference

A COUNTY-WIDE meeting of all Civil Defense auxiliary policemen will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the East Stroudsburg Junior High School auditorium.

County C-D Director Paul M. Crawn said it will be determined at that session whether the content of the present state course for auxiliary police meets the requirements for emergencies. Officials will also seek to determine what additional information should be included in the course.

Crawn said both men and women are being invited to the session at which new auxiliary police will be recruited.

Never Enough

"There never are enough auxiliary police," said Crawn, "because their services are so widely used during any emergency."

In addition to thoroughly discussing the courses to be given in the county this winter, Crawn said the date for the first class session will be set at tomorrow night's meeting.

He said indications are that there will be a large enrollment in the C-D classes this year, because many units are signing up in groups, and some organizations bordering Monroe County have asked to be allowed to attend the classes.

Continued Migration Westward

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (P)—A continued migration westward was shown today in a Census Bureau report estimating a gain of 16½ million in U.S. population between the 1950 census and July 1, 1954—from 150,697,000 to 161,183,600.

The general picture was this: sharp percentage gains in the Pacific, mountain and southwestern states; mixed lesser percentage gains in all other states except seven which lost population—Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, West Virginia, Vermont and Maine.

The report showed California as the state which gained the greatest number of inhabitants in the 4-year period. California added 1,914,000 residents to bring its population to 12½ million. This was second only to New York's 15,826,000 as of July 1, 1954.

The bureau estimated California netted 742,000 through births and put in over a million through civilian migration.

Legislators To Avoid Taxes Until After Nov. 8 Election

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23 (P)—A skeleton force of legislators will meet in token sessions tomorrow, but the Assembly is expected to avoid controversial legislation, including the tax problem, until after Halloween and the Nov. 8 elections.

Both the House and the Senate return after a recess during the past week to discuss the possibility of adjourning until Nov. 14. Decisions on school appropriations and taxes may be put off until then.

Conference Today

A conference among legislative leaders tomorrow will discuss the recess, said Rep. James E. Lovett, assistant House Democratic floor leader.

"With the hotel room shortage and the election campaign coming up it looks like they may recess until next month," Lovett said.

Sen. Albert R. Pechan, assistant Republican floor leader expressed a similar sentiment. He said arrangements are being made for hotel rooms at nearby Hershey for a session the week of Nov. 14.

The recess all last week was forced by a meeting of the Commission on Interstate Co-operation. The commission, including both Republican and Democratic leaders from the Pennsylvania legislature, met in Florida.

A token session is one in which only a handful of legislators is on hand and acts only on non-controversial legislation, on which agreement has been reached before a vote is called.

Wants Delay

Gov. Lovett has taken the position that school appropriations should be held up until the tax dilemma is solved. However, more than $6 million dollars are due to be paid to school districts in October and November.

The $6 million dollar general school appropriations measure, providing for state grants to schools during the two years starting last June 1, is stalled in the House after passing the Senate.

But if the state "goes broke for lack of revenue" the Democratic party will have to bear the responsibility, contended Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Senate president pro tempore.

"Although the governor knows in his own heart that it is his own stubbornness and nothing else that has gotten us into this financial mess, he is going up and down

Palmerton Man Dies Of Injuries

A 31-YEAR-OLD Palmerton man died at 3 a. m. yesterday at Palmerton Hospital of injuries suffered minutes earlier when the car in which he was riding crashed into a tree in Parryville.

State Police identified the victim as Peter Kost, who suffered severe internal lacerations of the neck.

Troopers said Kost was a passenger in a car operated by John Srip, 26, Salt Lake City, Utah, when it came out of a dirt road, crossed Legislative Route 1304 and rammed into a tree on the other side of the road.

The State Police report did not indicate if the driver was injured. Troopers said the case still is under investigation.

CAP Conduct Futile Search For Two New Jerseymen Who Became Lost In Pike County

MILFORD—Volunteers yesterday conducted a futile search for two New Jersey fishermen who have been missing from their cottages near here since Oct. 8.

The search was conducted on ground and air. Volunteers from two area organizations aided State police in the attempt to find Alex Alexa, 55, and Michael Suchorsky, 40, both of Elizabeth, N. J.

Taking part in the search from Monroe County were the 13 members of the Civil Air Patrol ranger team. This team worked on the ground with firemen from Milford as CAP plane circled the area over the general site where Alexa and Suchorsky were last seen.

Pinchot Strip

The plane was piloted by Lt. Calvin Pryor, Capt. William A. Bechtel, local CAP commander. They told the search party that day that at 7 p.m. the plane was in the air search. The plane used a field-landing strip on property formerly belonging to the late Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

A portable ground-air radio communications system was used. The ranger team is a regular service of the local Civil Air Patrol group.

Continued efforts to locate them have proved fruitless. Yesterday's search began at about 9 a.m. and continued until past 5 p.m.

Six Die On Highways In State

SIX PENNSYLVANIANS were killed on highways during the weekend. Three lost their lives in Pennsylvania and three in New Jersey.

Two Philadelphians, George McDowell, and Betty Reed, both 23, were killed in a two-car collision at Berlin, N. J., Sunday. Six other passengers in a car that New Jersey State Police said was struck making a left turn through a traffic island on Route 73.

A 9-year-old Reading, boy, Forrest Westervelt, was struck and killed by a car Saturday. Police said the boy dashed from between two parked cars. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Westervelt.

Near Canonsburg, an automobile swerved out of control on a rural road Sunday and struck a utility pole. Miss Ann Mae Solensky, 27, of Canonsburg was killed and three other persons were injured.

State Police Manpower Has Not Been Increased To Keep Pace With Enforcement

Legislation in "the hopper" includes several bills increasing the strength of the State Police, and those familiar with the continuing demands made upon the historic unit are agreed that nothing should be allowed to stand in the way of the increase.

With each population growth in Pennsylvania, and this has been continuous, the demands on the State Police increase commensurately.

The never-ending increase in the number of motor vehicles on state highways, including the turnpike, has produced a problem difficult for headquarters to solve.

It may not be known generally, but the 120 troopers detailed to turnpike patrol are not subtracted from the total permitted strength of the State Police, and this number will have to be increased by 35 to 40 more troopers when the turnpike's new northeastern extension is opened next year.

Obvious result of this drain on the troop-requirements, not only for traffic duties on all public roads other than the turnpike but for continuing criminal investigations makes it mandatory that the overall strength of the force be increased.

Col. Earl Henry, State Police Superintendent, is in favor of one measure that excludes the turnpike detail from the regular maximum of 1900 men, and is hopeful that his bill will be reported out of committee and passed.

It has been suggested many times that the highway patrol demands made upon the State Police have dangerously diminished the capacity for criminal investigations and prosecutions, and if this be true there is every reason for a decided increase in the number of men available for duty.

Granted that highway patrol is a most important duty, it is of equal importance that the historic role of the State Police be not diminished.

Decline Of Farm Price, Income Major Problem For Republicans In '56 Election

More than a year before the country goes to the polls to elect the next President of the United States, the politically active are carefully watching the farmers for indications as to just how they will cast their ballots in 1956.

It goes without saying that whoever the candidates may be, they will talk loud and long about the plight of the farmer and what they intend to do to improve it.

What worries the Republicans most is the present rather unhappy situation in which the men who till the soil find themselves today, with farm prices having declined 25 per cent since 1951 and general farm income lowered by 32 per cent. And at the same time farm costs have risen some 15 per cent.

George Sokolsky Says...

Free Spirits In American Universities Still Pursue Their Course With No Fear

Historic changes function in a chain, one thing leads to another. It is not only difficult to arrest the chain reactions, but that which becomes established can never be undone except by war or revolution. Those of us who rejected Roosevelt's "New Deal" were defeated.

The New Deal was, in any phase, revolutionary in the sense that it actually altered the ideas of the American people concerning the Constitution, private property rights, the relations of the Federal Government to the states, the relationship of the Congress to the public purse. It expanded the power of the President.

Much of this was easy to do, if anyone desired to do it, because of the Depression and the War. And now we have it. Those who believe that in 1955 this country will return to the system of life which prevailed here from 1789 to 1932 are fighting windmills. Usually those who think that way are astonished that they are not supported by business men in their efforts to preserve private enterprise. The fact is that business has adjusted itself to the New Deal revolution and is making bigger profits than ever. If in 1936-7, these business men fought the labor union ideas of John L. Lewis and Walter Reuther, they are now in partnership with Reuther to preserve the system they once opposed. A return to a free economy would upset the larger American businesses as the organization of the CIO upset them.

Whereas in many states there is considerable resentment at current efforts at expansion of Federal authority, the states nevertheless accept Federal aid for that or that. Federal expansion can only be halted by rejecting Federal aid for everything, roads, housing, education — everything. Thus far, no state has taken that position and therefore Federal expansion continues.

Colleges and universities fell all over themselves to get the benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights. Many of the smaller colleges expanded beyond their justifiable needs; now they find themselves with too much plant, too expensive a faculty, and too few students. Some of them are in such unfortunate financial straits that they will probably have to close down. And why not? From the standpoint of scholarship, some of them should close down.

Professors Donald J. Cowling and Carter Davidson in 1949 published a pamphlet warning their fellow educators of their dangers. They said:

"The social controls that have recently been developing on every hand in America are hailed as something new under the sun, and therefore better than what we have had before. But the controls are old—as old as government itself—the only new feature is the form of government that is pressing them upon the people. In the past it was tyranny or monarchy or oligarchy that forced individuals into patterns under a theory of the divine right of kings. But the American republic was formed on a new basis, which repudiated the theories and practices of the past. It was unique in that it was established by free men."

Also, they said:

"The basic argument against federal aid for schools is that it would place in the hands of those in political authority the power to transform our whole way of life. Certain controls are conceded to be necessary from the start—joint responsibility in the preparation of educational plans for each state with authority resting with the United States commissioner of education for final approval according to standards which he determines; for regional representatives of the federal agency and for financial accounting to it of all money spent, and for annual reports covering the educational results achieved. These controls involve supervision not only of funds supplied by the Federal Government but of state funds as well . . ."

We have not yet witnessed such Federal control of what is to be taught, but it is interesting that a Left Wing conformity has established itself and conservative students complain that they are down-graded when they answer controversial questions differently from the private ideas of the so-called liberal instructor. Even if a student is only reduced from an A to a B, it could affect his standing in the class, his chance to get a Phi Beta Kappa key and a foot on the first rung of the profession of scholarship.

In the past it was tyranny or monarchy or oligarchy that forced individuals into patterns under a theory of the divine right of kings. But the American republic was formed on a new basis, which repudiated the theories and practices of the past. It was unique in that it was established by free men."

It is a most difficult job and not always a pleasant one, especially when he is so vitally interested in the welfare of people. There are few perhaps who know that several nights found him spending the entire night in his office because new storms threatened the area and he wanted to make arrangements which would care for anyone who needed help if a new terror struck.

He was an efficient staff not only because they were trained, but because they were certain of his sincerity and guidance and wisdom. To many who have met him, he is known as "John" and I feel certain there are many who will never forget him or his understanding way. Working for him has not only been a pleasure but one of the greatest lessons in seeing actual sincerity at work that could ever be learned. I'm grateful and I know that you are too for having had the opportunity of meeting and knowing John Hopkins, a fine director and a wonderful person.

Dear Sir:

My uncle George Rusk, Sr. of 95 Brown St., East Stroudsburg, very thoughtfully sent me a copy of "The Flood Edition".

I want to express my most grateful thanks to you for printing this edition of your paper.

I know that many people like myself were extremely anxious about relatives and friends. Eager to learn the amount of damage and the localities where it happened.

It is wonderful to know the people are already in action, to restore East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg to their usefulness and former beauty. What a grand example of human courage!

Mrs. Gertrude Seelour, Director of Oakland Chapter of American Red Cross (I gave her the paper) also asked me to send her deepest thanks for the newspaper. The Oakland Chapter of the American Red Cross was such a blessing, when there was absolutely no way to either receive news or send news to our relatives.

Again please accept my thanks. The paper certainly brought back many happy memories of my girlhood days spent in East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg.

Dear Mr. Heller,

The time draws near when the Red Cross personnel who have come from all parts of this country to help us during this recent disaster will be called back to their own jobs. Before this happens, I want to express my gratitude, publicly and I'm sure it is the gratitude of all who have come to know him, to John E. Hopkins, who directed the Red Cross office. Having worked for him, I have been in a position to see many of the people who came to talk with him and I've seen these same people come back to thank him

University Women Talk Of Education

Education played a large part in the discussions at the neighborhood conference of the American Association of University Women when representatives of nine nearby branches gathered at the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Saturday with the Stroudsburg branch as host to the group.

The morning symposium on the theme "Some Unmet Needs in Today's Education" was conducted by Mrs. David Mazer, Stroudsburg, conference chairman and was followed by a buzz session with all of the 50 or more delegates taking part.

The major talk of the afternoon was given by Miss Ruth Krapf, Hazleton, who reported on the Pennsylvania conference preliminary to the White House Education Conference. Miss Krapf emphasized the six recommendations coming out of those conferences:

Statewide Recommendations

1. The general recommendation was for more utilitarian education with emphasis on skill, although AAUW members still hold out for a strong liberal arts background.

2. The conference was unanimously in favor of federal aid for enough school buildings.

3. A higher salary schedule in Pennsylvania would help retain young teachers trained in Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges from going into neighboring states with higher schedules. The conference warned against lowering standards as a means of obtaining teachers.

4. Union and merger types of combining school districts were recommended as preferable in providing more and better service.

5. Americans are accustomed to pay for what they really want, and the importance of schools must be made known to them.

6. Schools are for society, not just for children, and everyone must be made to realize his stake in good schools which rank teachers before gadgets. Active citizen groups in every community are needed to provide public support and understanding.

Outside School Walls

The morning conference also brought out many phases of education. "Childhood Education Beyond the School Wall" was the theme of the talk by Mrs. Bird Sumner, Athens, in which she pointed out that the adult bears traces of the child he once was, and each phase of his life contributes something important.

She traced the mental, physical and social development of these phases, the tender years from birth to five; the loving years from 6 to 12; the revolting years from 13 to 17 and the accepting years from 17 to 23, and how this development was hindered or helped by life outside of school.

"The twig properly bent during those years will produce a tree bearing good fruit. A child must 'know the importance of being; he physically fit; emotionally well-balanced; have a vocation; participate in sports and hobbies; have religious convictions; and know where he wants to go in life," she summarized.

The other phase of "Unmet Needs in Education" was discussed by Mrs. Robert McKeel, East Stroudsburg, whose theme was "How to Help the Gifted Child."

The Gifted Child

The mentally gifted child is the school's most pressing problem and a challenge to both home and school, she said. The schools at first regarded special opportunities for gifted children as non-democratic but now is realizing the importance of training leaders, through a program enriched for him not just more of the same drill work.

The home, she said, can help by encouraging such a child to develop physical skills, to keep trying at difficult tasks and to help him to get along with those his own age as a child, not a miniature adult. She warned against "showing them off" with "The Boy with the Cart" with Mrs. Harold Flager as narrator and Mrs. H. G. Sanborn III and Mrs. Wendell Wicks portraying the boy, Cuthbert, and his mother.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

When the speaker at the AAUW neighborhood conference on Saturday referred to the ages from 13 to 17 as "The Revolting Years", she meant primarily the years in which the child was in revolt, not vice versa.

Though now both of ours are safely within the 17-year bracket, I guess it's safe to admit that there are some revolting aspects about the ages themselves. And some very endearing aspects, as well. The main trouble for parents seems to be that they can never be sure which side will turn up when.

And speaking of turning up—so realistic was the spill scene from "The Boy with the Cart", that a solicitous waiter almost found himself in the spot-light and part of the cast before he realized that the tumble was part of the play and not accidental.

It was pleasant for the local members to hear again the memorable lines from the play, and the excerpts were picked with skill, though naturally those who had seen the whole performance had to omit a bit of it.

And it's difficult to omit any of the stories pouring in to the social desk, too, but until they invent compressible type or stretchable paper it seems impossible to make space and stories come out even.

The University of Michigan is the oldest state university in the United States. It was also the first state university to admit coeds.

Plans will be made for the last penny supper this year, of which Mrs. Clayton Snyder will be chairman. Home made pies, cakes, as well as turkey, ham and meat loaf will be featured at the supper set for November 5 at the fire hall.

Climax came with the presentation of excerpts from a play, "The Boy with the Cart" with Mrs. Harold Flager as narrator and Mrs. H. G. Sanborn III and Mrs. Wendell Wicks portraying the boy, Cuthbert, and his mother.

Birthday Surprise Party Held For Mrs. Lizzie LaBar

Mrs. Lizzie LaBar, Craig's Meadows, whose birthday was October 17 was honored at a surprise party given beforehand on Saturday night, October 15.

She received many gifts and refreshments were served. Present were Mrs. Lizzie Fetherman, Mrs. Emma Kierim, Mrs. Mamie Tremain, Mrs. Nellie Howey, Mrs. Terry Plaza, Mrs. Mary Murray, Mrs. Mary LaBar, Mrs. Marie Frederick, Reva Wildrick, Mildred Weber, her son, Raymond; her granddaughter Janice Wildrick, and grandson, Paul Wildrick.

The flower girls were Diane Zieliński of Hamlin and Judy Everitt of Greentown, both cousins of the bride. They wore similar gowns with Judy's in pastel blue, carrying a basket of pink carnations; and Diane's in pastel pink with a basket of blue carnations.

David Carr, nephew of the bridegroom, of Angels, was ring bearer. He carried a white pillow with white streamers, made by the bride's mother.

Mrs. Kevia H. Hurff, of Swedesboro, N. J., and Mrs. Harry English, of Sewell, N. J., were weekend visitors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bennett Strait, Delaware Water Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll D. McDonough, of Douglas Ave., Stroudsburg, quietly celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary Friday last. They received the good wishes of their friends.

The judges also decided to award one special gift certificate of $250 to Mrs. Helen Hester, of R. D. 1, Stroudsburg, for her unusual entry . . . a letter cleverly illustrated with pictures, clippings, words from the Shopper columns and headlines, telling why she felt her identification of each contestant was correct. The letter was as neat and entertaining as could be . . . and while Mrs. Hester's efforts far exceeded the requirements, and while her identifications were not entirely correct, we appreciated her interest, ingenuity, and the wonderful things she said about our store and those who serve her so pleasantly. Her knowledge of our store and the brand names sold here is, in itself, a great compliment to Wyckoff's.

As for the major prizes, the first two went as follows: Mrs. Stanley Kessel, 202 Curtis Avenue, Wilmington, Del., who guessed $3.37, to win the Easy Washer valued at $189.95, and Jeannette Munson, 1187 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, who won the 79.95 Hoover vacuum cleaner with her guess of $3.37, with the complete list to be announced later.

And what do I remember of Women's Days? I remember Dottie Dunn, and the deft skill with which she made up some of our characters from Never Never Land, arranging special stunts and features . . . the trouble our girls in sportswear had keeping their "three little pigs" poundage in place, whenever they bent over to get merchandise from under the counter . . . and Mardee Wyckoff's ingenious assembling of merchandise from almost every department to create her Prince Charming costume—a beautiful ensemble that consisted of felt television boots from Shoes; black corduroy tuxedo pants from Sportswear; an aqua matron blouse belted in with leopard and "touched up" with long white sleeves, some heavy chains from Jewelry; and a blue satin hat with plumes from — of all things — a paper party favor and a feather duster.

I remember the customer's anxious, "Is that her own hair or a wig?" whenever they glimpsed Marion Leedon with her naturally white curls hanging down her back; the charm of Amy Ellenger's nieces dressed as a big tomato pin cushion and a Raggedy Ann doll, and Lynn Mackey's delight at being permitted to distribute samples and "unadvertised specials" sheets. I remember . . . I remember . . . it could go on for ever. But mostly I remember that it was fun . . . which, after all, is what we meant it to be!

Christian Church Power Disclosed

EXCHANGE STUDENTS from Pakistan and North Ireland yesterday gave a glimpse of the strength of the Christian Church in their respective countries.

Ian McDowell of County Derry, North Ireland, and Yasuji Khan Asim of Rawalpindi, West Pakistan, were members of a missions team from Princeton Theological Seminary which visited the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church over the weekend.

Large Attendees

"A fairly large percentage of the population of North Ireland," said Ian, "attend the churches, in contrast with England and Scotland."

McDowell, a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, said all Presbyterian congregations in his country are now trying to contact the unchurched through home visitation. Each church is also expected to hold two weeks of special services during either October or November.

"Mass evangelism is not generally considered the best approach in North Ireland," Ian explained. "Home visitation is more preferable."

The thing which most impressed Ian about churches in America, he said, is their strong emphasis on youth.

Daughter Of U. S.

Meanwhile, Mr. Asim noted that the Church in predominantly Moslem Pakistan considers herself the "daughter of the Church in the United States."

He said that the Church there appears to be "stagnant" because of economic depression and the large influx of refugees from India.

"But at the same time," he explained, "there are more non-Christians who are searching after the Truth."

While Pakistan is a Moslem state, most people have a high regard for Christians because they are honest, hard-working and more philanthropic. Mr. Asim said.

The Church has helped to raise the social and economic levels of the country, in addition to carrying out its evangelistic program, he said.

Found Schools

Protestant denominations have founded 12 high schools in Pakistan, he disclosed. And there are four church-affiliated colleges.

"There are also five outstanding hospitals," said Mr. Asim, pastor of United Presbyterian church in Rawalpindi.

"I say outstanding because the government cannot compete with them in efficiency, progress and kindness," he added.

Other members of the Princeton Seminary mission team who visited the area were Jack Wise, Sacramento, Calif.; and Roger Richman, Duluth, Minn.

Adaline Keller Services Held

FUNERAL SERVICES for Adaline Keller, late of Cross RD., were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at William H. Clark funeral home.

Rev. Charles F. Spangenberg and Clifford E. Hays officiated. Interment was made in Keekee Chapel Cemetery. Pallbearers were Ewdwin Beseker, George Bogert, William Henry and Otto Sturm.

The steel industry used more than 13 billion tons of water last year in its plants.

DEATHS

Kresge Heirs Give Cemetery Interests To Union Church In West End Of This County

THE HEIRS of William A. Kresge, who was for many years an undertaker at Brodheadsville, Pa., have presented as a memorial gift to the Zion Evangelical Lutheran and the Zion Evangelical and Reformed congregations, the local cemetery property and the stock of the Buena Vista Cemetery Corporation which was owned by the Kresge family.

At a recent meeting of the joint consistory from both congregations, the gift was accepted under the provisions of the donors:

That immediate steps be taken to adopt a plan for permanent care of the property and that the directors of the corporation always be equally representative of the two congregations as well as the outside plot owners.

Foundation

It is planned to create under the laws of the Commonwealth for an investment foundation for the investment of such funds as are now available from various estates and that will be collected from plot owners. The interest therefrom will be used for improvements and permanent care.

George T. Robinson, Stroudsburg attorney, will act for the church group and outside plot owners to provide legal protection.

The directors who have been elected to carry on the work of the Buena Vista Cemetery Corporation are:

Amzi F. Altemose, George T. Dold, Lizzie Fetherman, Edgar B. Hamm, Henry C. Hoffman, William H. Kresge, Eda Mill, Nathan J. Kunkle, and Lloyd S. Altemose.

Plane Death Toll Jumps Up To Eight

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 23 (UPI)—The death toll from the crash of millionaire sportman Joel Thorne's plane into an apartment house rose to eight today, practically wiping out two entire families.

Miss Anna Presincano, 41, of Lyndhurst, N.J., and Mrs. Laura Marchica, 38, died this morning from burns suffered in the fiery crash which turned a gay christening party into a funeral pyre.

The two women were sisters of Mike Preston, 31, who is still very critical, as is Patricia Marchica, 9, daughter of Mrs. Marchica.

Preston and Patricia are the only two still alive of a family group of eight celebrating the baptism of 7-week-old Sherry Preston last Monday night in the Preston apartment.

The baby had been baptized only hours before at nearby St. Charles Roman Catholic Church.

The baby, Thorne and Mrs. Betty Wolf, an 18-year-old bride of two months, all perished in the

Where could you find anything to equal them in luxury? Their new interiors offer fabrics and leathers of rare richness and quality . . . together with features of comfort and convenience that will delight even the most experienced Cadillac owner.

And where could you find anything to rival them in performance? There's a completely redesigned Cadillac engine developing 285 and 305 horsepower . . . an entirely new, controlled-coupling Hydra-Matic Drive . . . advanced Cadillac Power Steering . . . and improved Cadillac Power Braking.

This extraordinary new beauty . . . and this brilliant new luxury . . . and this dynamic new performance . . . have been interpreted in four separate series and in nine individual body styles.

Cavaliers Hold Down First Place

EAST STROUDSBURG High made history Saturday night by dealing out a 13-12 loss to a vastly larger Wilson Borough grid machine in a Lehigh-Northampton League struggle waged before another standing-room-only crowd at Memorial Stadium.

It marked the first time since "Judd" Hall became football coach at Wilson in 1952 that the Cavaliers have been able to take the annually powerful Warriors into camp.

The victory enabled East Stroudsburg to maintain a position atop the circuit standings with three wins and no defeats. Second

Those who watched the contest saw the Mountaineers fight off three other Whitehall bids in the first two periods, one of which was halted by a fine tackle by Francis "Fritz" Hassara on the Stroudsburg four-yard stripe. The home town line gave a good account of itself throughout the first two periods and actually outplayed the big visiting forward wall on occasion.

Stroudsburg, weakened almost to the breaking point by injuries, was unable to stand the pace in the second half, especially when Doug Nichols and Whitehall's Al Krautack were excused in the third period for fighting. The double banishment proved much more costly to the home team than it did the Zephyrs, as Nichols was the last remaining end on the Stroudsburg varsity squad. Nichols had taken over in this game for Doug Shook, who suffered a badly lacerated mouth in a practice session last week.

Doug Hayes, co-captain and regular right halfback for the Mountaineers, played a portion of the remaining time at Nichols' end post. The Zephyrs used a short passing game in the second half, after finding it mighty tough to run against the maroon and white clad forward wall. Whitehall used the "screen pass" to its best advantage and at one time had nine blockers in front of the ball carrier. On this play, Dave Way, who took the pass from Bill Marks, shouted, "Let's go gang," and then galloped 45 yards, after taking a six-yard aerial, for the touch-down.

Marks is one of the best high school quarterbacks we'll be privileged to see in this neck of the woods for awhile. Although he's not much for size, Marks has plenty of nerve and is a good, quick thinker. The manner in which he handles the ball under center should attract the eye of college scouts. He runs very well and is a good passer. What else can one ask?

Stroudsburg was unable to move the ball in Whitehall territory at anytime in the game. But, the Mountaineers missed a great chance to at least present a mild threat early in the second half. Whitehall got off a very bad punt, but one of the home town grididers was judged offside. On the second shot the visiting team got off a long kick that put the Mountaineers far back in their own territory.

The Mountaineers weren't able to do a thing offensively, in the air or on the ground. There appeared to be a lot of confusion in the Stroudsburg backfield on running plays and the Whitehall defenders poured in all over Ronnie Stopp each time the plucky quarterback tried to pass in the second half. Stopp didn't have a slight semblance of protection on pass situations in the third and fourth periods.

Roger Lane registered the only first down of the game for Stroudsburg and it came on one of the best runs of the entire ball game. Lane shook off several tacklers as he picked up 12 yards in his own territory just before the first half became history. Otherwise, the Mountaineers couldn't move the ball. Bill Metzgar, Ted "Brooklyn" Stevens, Stroudsburg, and Jack Sommers, East Stroudsburg, operated the line markers as no Whitehall representative could be found for the job.

Each of the four starting backs for Whitehall wore low shoes and Marks was jarred loose from one shoe by a savage tackle in the fourth period. Low shoes supposedly give runners more speed. Whitehall High was fighting among itself much of the second period, especially when Hassara's tackle prevented what appeared to be an almost certain touchdown. The arguments between players grew quite loud at times. Stroudsburg was on the short end of a 7-1 count on first downs in the first half. The final first down total was 16-1 in favor of Whitehall. The Zephyrs demonstrated a decided weakness in the extra point department, which may prove costly in future outings.

Steelers Down Giants, 19-17

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers, overcoming their own inept kicking and a brilliant passing attack by the Giants, scored a third period touchdown to come from behind and defeat New York 19-17 in a National Football League game today. A Polo Grounds crowd of 27,365 saw the Steelers gain their second straight victory over the Giants and their fourth in five games to remain on top in the eastern division.

Bears Rally To Clip Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Ed Brown ripped off two touchdowns and passed for a third today as the Chicago Bears wiped out a 10-point first quarter deficit to whip the San Francisco 49ers, 34-23, in a National Football League game.

Conferences Open Today On Development

GOV. GEORGE M. Leader yesterday announced plans for a series of conferences in three Pennsylvania communities to stimulate an exchange of ideas that will improve the economic and industrial development of the Commonwealth.

The discussions will be held today, Tuesday, and Wednesday in Wilkes-Barre, Erie, and Johnstown, respectively. Officials and leaders of local government, business and industry, labor and industrial development organizations have been invited to the conferences in each community.

The Governor said:

"I have given economic development, and particularly industrial development, a top priority in the program of my Administration. It is my purpose to marshall all of the pertinent services and facilities of our State Government, to create new jobs, new business opportunities, new payrolls and profits. It is my objective on this trip to find out firsthand just what I must do to make this program a reality in these very important industrial centers of our State."

Aides In Party

Accompanying the Governor to the discussions will be Hon. William R. Davlin, State Secretary of Commerce, and Hon. John R. Torquato, State Secretary of Labor and Industry.

Representatives from nineteen counties have been invited to attend the Wilkes-Barre conference which will be held in the American Legion Post starting at 10 a.m. today.

At the Erie conference to start Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Cannon College Auditorium, business, labor and industry leaders from seven counties will attend. (Tuesday, October 25th).

Twenty counties will be represented at the Johnstown meeting which will be held in the State Employment Services office, McDonald Building, on Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. (Wednesday, October 26th).

Two measures proposed to the General Assembly deal specifically with community industrial development. Senate Bill 276, introduced by five Democrat and five Republican Senators would create a State Industrial Development Authority. This Authority would have the power to purchase and develop industrial sites and construct industrial buildings, to be made available on lease-purchase arrangements to responsible industrial firms.

Labor Surplus

The operations of this Authority would be limited strictly to areas of chronic labor surplus. House Bill 806 deals specifically with community industrial development. This Industrial Development Assistance Bill provides for a system of fund-matching between the Commonwealth and communities to finance industrial development organization, research and promotion activity.

This legislation will be discussed at length by Governor Leader and Secretaries Davlin and Torquato at the above conferences.

All of the conferences will be open to representatives of press, radio and television.

Pays-As-Go Road Work

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Oct. 23 (UPI)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks declared the administration is ready to accept tax-as-you-go financing, if necessary, to obtain passage of President Eisenhower's multi-billion dollar highway program in the coming session of Congress.

Weeks urged the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, which embraces the presidents and board chairmen of scores of the country's biggest corporations not to oppose tax increases on highway users that are "fair and equitable across the board."

Canadians Claim Oil Well Outdates Drake's Drillings

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (UPI)—Canada revived with documentation today a claim to having the site of North America's first oil well, a distinction generally given to Titusville, Pa.

The Titusville well was drilled by Edwin L. Drake and came into production Aug. 23, 1859, at eight barrels a day.

By Canadian account, however, the first successful oil well on the continent was brought in two years earlier by James Miller Williams in western Ontario's Lambton County at what is now the village of Oil Springs.

Supporting Data
Supporting data is largely from a manuscript entitled "Makers of Oil History, 1850 to 1880," written by Col. R. B. Harkness, consultant to Ontario's Mines Department and formerly Ontario's natural gas commissioner.

Authorities quoted by Harkness include Sterry Hunt, Chemist, and Charles Robb, mining engineer, of the Geological Survey of Canada, who wrote in 1860 that Williams began producing and refining oil in 1857.

Harkness presents further evidence that Williams opened a refinery in Hamilton in 1857 and at the 1862 International Exhibition in London, England, won a gold medal as the first to produce oil in Canada, and another medal as the first to refine it.

The Hamilton city directory of 1862-63 says Williams at that time employed 16 men and refined 120 barrels of oil a week.

Historic Shrine
A review of Harkness' and other material is contained in a news release from Canadian Oil Companies Ltd. which has bought the site and plans to establish it as a national historic preserve.

W. Harold Rea, president, said:

"We believe historical development of this, the birthplace of North America's oil industry, would be a proper and lasting memorial to the courage and vision of Canada's oil pioneers."

Williams, born in 1818 in Camden, N. J., of Welsh parentage, came to Canada in 1840. He operated carriage works in London, Ont., and Hamilton before starting his oil prospecting.

Fairless Honored
NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (UPI)—Treasury said today the government spent more in the first quarter of the current fiscal year than it did a year before. But tax receipts also rose.

The result was that the government went into the red in the three months for about a billion dollars less than in corresponding months a year earlier, the monthly budget statement for September showed. This report closed the first quarter of fiscal year 1956.

Traffic Demerits
TORONTO, Oct. 23 (UPI)—Ontario's government is considering a demerit system for chronic traffic offenders, under which they could have their licenses suspended.

Strawberries picked from the garden are popular Christmas fare in Bermuda.

Pocono High Senior Play November 1

TANNERSVILLE—Pocono High School seniors will present their class play Tuesday night, Nov. 1 in the school auditorium.

Title of the play is "The Nervous Wreck".

The plot centers on a timid, young man with a "very bad case of nerves," according to a class spokesman.

Cast Members

In the cast are: Ellanore Sebring, Gloria Bryson, Dew Shunk, Thomas Besecker, Paul Bensel, Ruth Campbell, Ronald LaBar, William Coberly, Linda Maring, Richard Fenn, Norma Butz, and a "mystery star" whose identity cannot be revealed, according to the class.

Big Test

The Army describes "Sagebrush" as "the largest joint Army-Air Force maneuver since World War Two." It begins Nov. 1; ends late in December. An estimated 110,000 Army troops will take part in the exercises which is designed to test "the latest concepts of atomic, bacteriological, chemical and electronic warfare," the Army says.

Action of the play takes in the lobby of a small, family-type hotel.

Tickets will be on sale at the door on the night of the performance.

Adenauer Still Has High Fever

BONN, Germany, Oct. 23 (UPI)—A spokesman said today Chancellor Konrad Adenauer still is running a fever and some West German newspapers began to express anxiety about him. The 73-year-old statesman, ill since Oct. 7, has bronchial pneumonia.

The spokesman said Adenauer had been spending a few hours out of bed each day recently, but added that his temperature remains "slightly above normal." Some newspapers predicted a long convalescence was indicated but officials said there is no medical opinion on this yet.

Deputy Chancellor Franz Blucher has taken over the government, but Adenauer insists on keeping in close touch.

Hagerty's Son Married In Allentown

ALLENSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 23 (UPI)—Second Lt. Roger Carl Hagerty, USMC, son of President Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, and Eva Thoren, daughter of a Swedish minister, are honeymooning today after their marriage here.

Young Hagerty met his bride in Westport on Lake Champlain, N. Y. in 1954, when she came to this country as a governess for a family spending a summer there.

She was an elementary school teacher in Sweden before her marriage yesterday.

The couple will return to Camp Lejeune, N. C., where Lt. Hagerty is stationed.

Eisenhower's Films Popular

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (UPI)—Movies of President Eisenhower's news conference are the most popular American films in Nigeria, says Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio).

In a letter written on a tour of Africa, she said the American consul general in Nigeria, Edward D. McLaughlin, told her Nigerians like them because:

"The king of the United States answers questions from anybody."
